

Cascade Springs can be reached by driving up past Sundance to near the top of the Alpine Loop, then following the signs to the springs. A new outdoor classroom is being developed which will lead itself well to environmental education groups. Clark said workbooks will be prepared which teachers may use in instructing their classes about such things as riparian zones, ecosystems, fish, plant life, shrubs and wildlife.

"The children will be given problems to solve concerning the area, and asked to respond about how best to preserve and improve the area," Clark said.

(Continued from Page A1)

the area, and asked to respond about how best to preserve and improve the area," Clark said.

CASCADE:

(Continued from Page A1) was to prepare a history of the springs, but researchers have been unable to find any written data. Anyone having information concerning the springs is urged to contact the Uinta National Forest.

In grimmer times, Kennedy had stood outside the barrier between East and West and said that if anyone thought the area, and asked to respond about how best to preserve and improve the area," Clark said.

Cascade Springs can be reached by driving up past Sundance to near the top of the Alpine Loop, then follow-

by JOSEPHINE ZIMMERMAN
Herald Staff Writer

Cascade Springs, one of this area's unique beauty spots, will soon be much better, according to Uinta National Forest officials.

Cascade Springs will remain closed until Sept. 10 for major remodeling of the visitor facilities.

The remodeling work will be in two phases. First will involve expansion of parking facilities by 50 spaces, construction of a new trail for Cascade Springs will remain closed until Sept. 10 for major remodeling of the visitor facilities.

Cascade Springs will remain closed until Sept. 10 for major remodeling of the visitor facilities.

The remodeling work will be in two phases. First will involve expansion of parking facilities by 50 spaces, construction of a new trail for

Central Utah's newspaper for 115 years — Issue No. 2

Tuesday, July 11, 1989